

Meet John Kessler

Mr. Kessler holds a BSEE from the University of Maryland, College Park and an MBA from Loyola University in Maryland. Mr. Kessler has over 30 year of experience in Business Management. Mr. Kessler has experience as an engineer, manager, businessman, and entrepreneur.

After receiving his BSEE degree from the University of Maryland, he started his career as an electrical engineer analyzing military communications, radar, and sensor systems. After receiving his MBA from Loyola College, Mr. Kessler's career transitioned into Management and Entrepreneurship. He was instrumental in the growth of several technology companies before starting his own, JKA Technologies, Inc. Mr. Kessler founded his company in 2002, successfully grew and then sold it in 2011. Since the acquisition, he has founded two new companies, provided mentoring to small businesses and participated in multiple charities.