Old Line Capital Invests in Cybersecurity Firm Hushmesh

Press release

Columbia, Md., December 21, 2019 – Old Line Capital Partners (www.oldlinecap.com) announced today that they have made a significant pre-seed investment in Hushmesh Inc. (www.hushmesh.com) to further the development and marketing of their Personal Authentication technology and trust network.

“Hushmesh is one of the most innovative cybersecurity companies we have seen in recent years”, stated John Schveibinz, Old Line Capital’s Managing Partner. “If successful, Hushmesh will change the way we all identify, authenticate, and secure our data across a wide range of services – virtually eliminating the need for passwords. We are excited to be a partner in this promising and disruptive company.”

“Old Line Capital is the exact type of investment partner we were looking for” stated Manu Fontaine, Hushmesh Founder and CEO. “Not only does the Old Line team understand the technology, they understand the massive impact the technology will have on the way we work and live our digital lives, the way we secure our most valuable digital assets, and the increased network trust that it provides. We could not be happier that the Old Line team has chosen to invest and partner with us.”

About Hushmesh:

Hushmesh, based in Falls Church, VA, is a Public Benefit Corporation with "neutral trust and privacy" as its stated public benefits. Its Personal Authentication technology solves digital trust by wrapping cryptographic identity, authentication and data security in a user experience that truly anyone can use. If you know how to snap a picture, you already know how to “mesh in.” Meshing in is a secure and convenient replacement for the outdated login process. It works universally across all use cases, devices, industries, markets, and geographies, both online and in the physical world. It eliminates usernames, passwords, two-factor authentication, account security questions, and password resets. As a result, it also eliminates phishing, social engineering and identity theft/fraud.
